Author Sandhya Hasswani will take us on a historical tour of the High Rhein in the 18th century. She has written a fascinating historical novel, Die letzte Äbtissin – The Last Abbess, centered around the life and times of Mari-Anna Franziska von Hornstein, the last abbess of the abbey at Bad Säckingen. To write her story, Ms. Hasswani has done a prodigious amount of research on the period, the fruits of which she will share with us on this day. The program includes a tour of St. Fridolin's Cathedral, which itself is central to Mari-Anna's story, by Adelheid Lang, who has been the cathedral's archivist for more than 20 years.

The program will take place in English. The cost is CHF 79.00, including lunch, to be transferred to the Cornell account on registration.

There are 15 places available; first come, first served.
